In 1909 there were received 64,408 applications for mechanical patents, 1,234 applications for design patents, 197 applications for reissues of patents, 7,247 applications for registration of trade-marks, 554 applications for registration of labels, and 190 applications for registration of prints. There were 37,261 patents issued, including designs, 160 patents reissued, and 4,184 trade-marks, 492 labels, and 148 prints registered. The number of patents that expired was 22,661. The number of allowed applications awaiting the payment of final fees was 12,748, and the number forfeited for non-payment of the final fees 7,699. The total receipts were $2,042,828.14, the expenditures $1,955,151.14, and the surplus of receipts over expenditures $87,677.00. The total balance to the credit of the Patent Office in the Treasury of the United States on January 1, 1910, was $6,973,402.89.

In proportion to population more patents were issued to citizens of Connecticut than to those of any other State—1 to every 881. Next in order are the following: District of Columbia, 1 to every 1,044; California, 1 to every 1,094; Washington, 1 to every 1,098; Nevada, 1 to every 1,114; Colorado, 1 to every 1,146; New Jersey, 1 to every 1,206; Massachusetts, 1 to every 1,304; Illinois, 1 to every 1,376; New York, 1 to every 1,389; Rhode Island, 1 to every 1,458; Ohio, 1 to every 1,638; Oregon, 1 to every 1,731; Pennsylvania, 1 to every 1,731; Utah, 1 to every 1,949; North Dakota, 1 to every 2,036; Idaho, 1 to every 2,128; Wyoming, 1 to every 2,152; Michigan, 1 to every 2,229; Montana, 1 to every 2,535; Wisconsin, 1 to every 2,599; Missouri, 1 to every 2,680; Indiana, 1 to every 2,703; Arizona, 1 to every 2,732; Minnesota, 1 to every 2,741; Iowa, 1 to every 3,113; Nebraska, 1 to every 3,126; Oklahoma, 1 to every 3,162; Kansas, 1 to every 3,183; New Hampshire, 1 to every 3,811; South Dakota, 1 to every 3,824; Delaware, 1 to every 3,931; Maryland, 1 to every 3,973; Maine, 1 to every 4,692; West Virginia,

1 to every 4,842; New Mexico, 1 to every 4,883; Vermont, 1 to every 5,207; Alaska, 1 to every 5,299; Florida, 1 to every 5,506; Texas, 1 to every 5,604; Virginia, 1 to every 6,893; Kentucky, 1 to every 7,181; Tennessee, 1 to every 8,018; Louisiana, 1 to every 8,080; Georgia, 1 to every 8,364; Arkansas, 1 to every 9,236; North Carolina, 1 to every 9,238; Alabama, 1 to every 9,938. The fewest patents granted in proportion to the number of inhabitants were in the following States and Territory: South Carolina, 1 to every 19,424; Hawaii, 1 to every 14,000, and Mississippi, 1 to every 13,489.

As to foreign patents, 1,189 were granted to citizens of Germany; 879 to those of England; 490 to those of Canada; 343 to those of France; 128 to those of Austria-Hungary; 108 to those of Switzerland; 92 to those of Sweden; 64 to those of Scotland; 60 to those of Italy; 56 to those of Belgium; 50 to those of Victoria; 39 to those of Denmark; 35 to those of Mexico; 33 each to those of New Zealand and Russia; 25 to those of New South Wales; 24 each to those of Norway and Transvaal; 23 to those of the Netherlands; 16 to those of Japan; 14 to those of Cuba; 12 each to those of Argentina and Ireland; 10 to those of Spain; 9 to those of Western Australia; 6 each to those of Queensland and Tasmania; 4 to those of Cape Colony; 3 each to those of Roumania and South Australia; 2 each to those of Guatemala, India, Java, Newfoundland, and Rhodesia, and 1 each to those of Brazil, Bulgaria, Chile, Colombia, Haiti, Peru, Portugal, Sumatra, Trinidad, Tunis, Turkey, and Venezuela.

SATISFACTORY CONDITIONS IN THE PATENT OFFICE.

I am very much gratified to be able to report to the Congress that the present conditions in the United States Patent Office are quite satisfactory by reason of the reorganization accomplished in certain directions, the increase of force, increase of salaries, and additional room. The increase in salaries especially has enabled the present administration of the Bureau to retain a much larger percentage of the technically-educated employees.

The work in the various branches of the Office has been made current; but owing to the great volume of business now coming into the Bureau, consisting of increases in the number of applications for patents, designs, trade-marks, labels, and prints, and the great need for expediting the classification of domestic and foreign patents, as well as the material in the 40,000 volumes in the Scientific Library, has compelled me to ask for an increase in force in the examining branch of the Office.

CLASSIFICATION OF PATENTS.

It is of the utmost importance that this vast material through which the Examiners have to search in passing upon applications of inventors be classified at the earliest possible date.

A classification division has been established, with a working force of ten Examiners; but this number of men engaged upon this work is wholly inadequate to make much headway in the classification of this material, which has been accumulating from year to year for nearly a century.

Therefore the force for this work should be at least doubled during the present session of Congress in order to more speedily complete this great task. When the classification will have been finished, examination as to novelty of inventions will be greatly simplified, both for the work of the Examiners and the inventors, who make searches as to novelty. It will also result in expediting the work of the issuance of patents, but, what is vastly more important, there will attach to patents granted a greater degree of validity than they have at present, owing to the incomplete searches which must inevitably follow by reason of this great mass of material being undigested.

It is the main purpose of the present administration of the Patent Office to expedite the examination of all applications presented—to issue patents whose novelty, if not validity, can in time be guaranteed by the Government. This will do away with the large amount of litigation which now devolves upon the inventors by being drawn into suits for infringements and interferences and will nearly obviate the necessity for litigation as to novelty within the Patent Office and the courts.

The number of United States patents granted to date is 954,966, which number is increasing at the rate of between thirty-five and forty thousand patents a year. The foreign patents granted by all countries number over 2,000,000. The Scientific Library contains between forty and fifty thousand volumes of reference material which is used in the examination of applications for patents. About forty-two per cent. of the United States patents have been classified, and it is to be hoped that a sufficient force will be provided at this session of Congress to classify and adjust this material at the earliest practicable date.

INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS FOR THE PROTECTION OF INDUSTRIAL PROPERTY.

The official International Congress for the Protection of Industrial Property was invited by the President of the United States to hold its next congress in the city of Washington in May, 1910. An appropriation of $10,000 was made at the first session of the present Congress to defray the expense of this gathering.

In communicating with the International Bureau at Berne, Switzerland, it was learned from the Director of said Bureau that there would not be sufficient time for the various nations participating—some thirty-five in number—to prepare material to be considered by this congress, and upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Patents the Department of State has changed the date of assembling to May 21, 1911.

This congress will be composed of delegates representing the foreign nations; and whose credentials will empower them to enact and sign any measure that shall be passed by said congress, subject, however, to the subsequent approval of their respective governments. The meetings of this congress will probably be the most important in its history. Able and experienced delegates, mostly officials of the various nations, will be appointed, who will discuss and act upon measures to bring about international concessions and agreements in patent and trademark laws, thereby harmonizing the laws of various countries, which laws are at the present time widely at variance, so much so in fact that it is almost impossible for inventors and manufacturers to do business with any degree of satisfaction in the various countries.

TREATIES WITH FOREIGN COUNTRIES RELATING TO INDUSTRIAL PROPERTY.

Negotiations are now pending between the United States and foreign countries looking to conventions being entered into by the various countries for the elimination of the so-called "working clause" in all patent laws.

A treaty of this kind has recently been negotiated with Germany and is now in force. Also the working clause in the patent laws of Sweden and Switzerland have recently been eliminated. It is to be hoped that in the near future the laws of all foreign countries now embracing this so-called "working clause" will be so modified that its provisions will be entirely eliminated. The abolishing of that feature of the patent laws of these countries will have a great tendency to "promote the progress of science and the useful arts, by securing for a limited time to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries."

ADDITIONAL LEGISLATION REQUIRED.

I desire to repeat the recommendation made in my report to Congress for the year ended December 31, 1908, in reference to the enactment of proposed legislation to effect the elimination of one of the appeals in this Office.

In my report to the Secretary of the Interior for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1909, I called his attention to the need of this legislation and gave my reasons therefor.

The Secretary of the Interior approved these recommendations in his report to the President. He said:

In respect to needed legislation pertaining to patent matters, I refer to and indorse the suggestions of the Commissioner of Patents in his annual report for the year ending June 30, 1909, directing particular attention to the recommendation for the enactment of a law which would eliminate one appeal in the Patent Office, and thus diminish materially the expense and time now required in obtaining a final adjudication.

Bills have been introduced into the Senate and House of Representatives, respectively, entitled S. 5636 and H. R. 18885, which provide for the elimination of one of the three appeals now allowed by law to applicants for patents and to parties in interference cases.

A bill containing substantially the same provisions as these bills was passed by the Senate during the Sixtieth Congress; but no action was taken thereon by the House of Representatives. The purpose of the proposed amendments to the statute is to shorten the course of prosecution of an application in the Patent Office by the elimination of one of the appeals within the Office. This is designed to be accomplished by combining the Commissioner, the First Assistant Commissioner, the Assistant Commissioner, and the Examiners-in-Chief into a single appellate tribunal, any three of whom shall constitute a quorum, to which all appeals shall lie, whether from the Primary Examiner or from the Examiner of Interferences, and from which appeals would lie to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia.

Under the present patent law appeal lies in ex parte cases from the Primary Examiner to the Board of Examiners-in-Chief, then to the Commissioner, (the First Assistant Commissioner or the Assistant Commissioner,) and from his decision to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, and in interference cases the course of appeals from the decisions of the Examiner of Interferences is the same, there being three appeals in each case.

The present course of appeals is not well adapted to the volume of business which the Office is now called upon to handle, for the following reasons:

1. It imposes on applicants an unnecessary amount of delay and expense. The very purpose of the patent system is to place at the service of the public at as early a date as practicable inventions as they are made, and unnecessary delays affect not only the applicants, but all interested in the industries to which the inventions relate. One appeal within this Office, together with the appeal to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, would seem to be ample, especially in view of the fact that in a suit on a patent a single appeal takes the case from the trial court to the court of appeals. The elimination of one appeal would materially shorten the time required to ultimately dispose of appeal cases and effect a considerable saving of expense to the applicants.

2. Section 4910 provides for an appeal to the Commissioner in person from the Board of Examiners-in-Chief. The work of the Office and the consequent number of appeals have increased to such an extent that it has become difficult and will soon be impossible for the Commissioner to give to each case the amount of personal attention proper to its disposal.

3. The Board of Examiners-in-Chief as at present constituted consists of three members, and no provision is made under the present law to supply a temporary vacancy caused by sickness or absence from other cause of any of the members. The absence of one member often results in an evenly-divided Board, with the consequent necessity for rehearing, and the absence of two members causes an entire suspension of business. With the proposed appellate board the presence of a quorum of three would be practically assured at all times, which has not been the case in numerous instances in the past owing to frequent absences of a member of the Board on account of periods of illness of greater or less duration and also by reason of annual leave and other causes. The work of this tribunal has so greatly increased during the last few years that it is almost impossible for its members to give the thorough joint consideration to each case which it deserves.

These changes in the course of appeals would not only have the effect of expediting the prosecution of applications on appeal, but the elimination of an appeal would be a saving to the inventors of one appeal fee, the attorneys' fees, and other expenses incident thereto. Furthermore, having but one appeal in the Office in lieu of two would result in giving greater stability to the decisions of the Office tribunals and would also obviate any want of comity that has at times existed in the past between the decisions of the Commissioner of Patents and the Assistant Commissioners. These proposed changes in the law in no wise affect the present legal status of the Commissioner of Patents, the First Assistant Commissioner, the Assistant Commissioner, or the Examiners-in-Chief.

The amendments proposed to the various sections of the statutes relating to appeals within this Office do not change the substance of the law. An examination of the bill in comparison with the present statutes will show that these amendments are very few, and I think it can be stated without question that the elimination of one of the appeals within this Office as now provided by law is now admitted to be desirable by every one who has any knowledge of the procedure required of an applicant or a party to an interference before he can obtain a final decision in his case. The proposed bill has the approval of many practitioners of standing before the Patent Office. One of the most important results which will be obtained by the enactment of this proposed legislation is that it will cause a patent granted by the Office to have a greater degree of validity. This result will follow from the fact that under existing conditions the decisions of the Examiners-in-Chief are not considered as precedents by either the Examiner of Interferences or any one of the forty-two Primary Examiners, and properly so, for they are in no wise final decisions and are not published. It would not be proper to publish them, for they belong to the secret archives of the Office, as much as the applications for patents which are considered by the Board. The decisions of the Examiners-in-Chief are respected only in so far as they affect the particular case determined by them. By raising the dignity of the Examiners-in-Chief, so as to give them seats on a tribunal of which the Commissioner, the First Assistant Commissioner, and the Assistant Commissioner are also members, and by providing that as so constituted it will be the tribunal of last resort in the Patent Office its decisions will be regarded as precedents and be respected as such by the Examiners and practitioners before the Office. In other words, the decisions of the board of appeals contemplated by the present act will have the same weight as those now rendered by the Commissioner in person. I most earnestly recommend that these bills be enacted into law in view of the following facts:

1. The great saving of time and labor to the tribunals of the Patent Office. Under the present system the work is done twice, to no good effect.

2. It is the practically unanimous opinion of inventors and manufacturers throughout the country that one appeal should be eliminated in the Patent Office, in order to save the great cost and loss of time now involved in obtaining a final adjudication and consequent grant of patent.

3. The fact that no general protest has been lodged and no effective arguments have been made against the passage of the bill.

4. Scientific journals have favorably commented upon this measure by editorials, and no protests or objections have been made.

5. The practice of the Office will be made more stable, and the patents granted will be better patents and have a greater degree of validity.

The establishment of a board of appeals in the Patent Office in accordance with the measure now before Congress will enable the Patent Office to more effectually dispose of the questions presented and much more thoroughly and expeditiously than is done now, without additional cost to the Government.

The following statement shows the judicial business of the Office for the calendar year ended December 31, 1909. There is also a statement of the appeals taken from the decisions of the Commissioner to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia.

Patent Bar.

I also wish to call attention to the necessity for legislation which would result in the establishment of a patent bar. It is suggested that a law be enacted providing that before an individual or firm is permitted to practice before the United States Patent Office the applicant shall be required to first pass an examination as to moral, legal, and technical qualifications; that a committee shall be appointed by the Commissioner of Patents, composed of officials of the Patent Office and patent attorneys of well-known standing in the profession, who shall conduct the examinations, under the direction of the Commissioner of Patents, and the report of such committee shall be subject to his approval.

I also respectfully urge the enactment into law of the following bills:

Senate Bill No. 5634 and H. R. Bill No. 18887, authorizing the Commissioner of Patents to issue certificates of correction to Letters Patent. These certificates are now issued under the rules of practice; but objection has sometimes been made to them in the courts on the ground that they are not specifically authorized by law. It sometimes happens that a patent in the course of its printing by the Government Printing Office does not conform in all respects with the records and files of the Patent Office. This bill authorizes the Commissioner of Patents to issue a certificate of correction whenever, in his opinion, a patent as issued does not conform with the records and files of the Patent Office.

A bill to amend section 4894, Revised Statutes, (Senate Bill No. 5635, H. R. Bill No. 18884.) This bill is to shorten the time within which an applicant may prosecute his application from one year, as now provided by law, to six months. A grave objection to the time now allowed is that applications are permitted by skilful practitioners to remain a long time in the Patent Office. This is effected by presenting amendments which sufficiently respond to the Office action to necessitate their entry and consideration; but they are not such complete actions as to justify the allowance of the application. It is in the interest of the public that a patent should be granted with as little delay as possible after the application has been filed in the Patent Office. Moreover, under the present law when an amendment is filed late in the year allowed for an action the work on the application in question is seriously delayed, for the reason that the Examiner is called upon to act in many cases during that year and in the nature of things does not retain the subject-matter of the application in mind for that period. The work of examination therefore has to be done again. This results in causing congestion of work throughout the whole Patent Office.

No real hardship will accrue to the inventor, for if a longer time is necessary in which to prosecute an application the same statute gives the Commissioner of Patents authority to excuse the delay upon a satisfactory showing.

A bill to amend section 4889, Revised Statutes, (Senate Bill No. 5632, H. R. Bill No. 18886.) This bill requires the filing of two photographs of the drawings as a part of the application for patent. It is believed that this requirement is necessary in order to prevent, or rather to detect, any unauthorized tampering with the application after it has been filed.

Certain changes in phraseology of the statute are provided by the proposed bill. The essential provision is that there shall be required to be filed with the application for patent, in addition to the drawing, two photographic copies of such drawing. The additional expense to the inventor probably would not exceed twenty-five cents in the great majority of cases. The provision, however, is for the protection of the honest inventor against fraud, and the small additional cost is therefore believed to be justified. For many years past it has been regarded as desirable that applicants filing applications for patent should accompany the same with photographic copies of the drawings. It has been the opinion of my predecessors in office. The late Commissioner Butterworth issued an order to this effect, but subsequently revoked it, as he could not legally enforce it without statutory authority.

A bill to amend sections 4917 and 4893, Revised Statutes, (Senate Bill No. 5633, H. R. Bill No. 18888.) It is recommended that these statutes be amended merely so as to change the word "claimant" to the word patentee. The word "claimant" is, in my opinion, not the proper word to use in this instance. In all other statutes relating to patents the inventor is uniformly referred to as the applicant or patentee. These two statutes are the only ones using the word "claimant." This amendment therefore will bring this statute in conformity with the other statutes relating to patents.

An application for patent is not a claim against the Government, and it should not be designated as such in the statute. The inventor, having created something new, offers by his application to fully disclose his invention at once and give it to the public at the end of seventeen years, provided the United States will allow him to have exclusive possession thereof in the meantime and that he be given the right to bring suit in the Federal courts against infringers during that period of seventeen years. In granting a patent to an inventor the Government is not parting with anything possessed by it prior to the applicant's disclosure. If the inventor chooses not to disclose the invention, but to practice it in secret, the public is the loser.

Repeal of Law Relating to Caveats.

I also recommend the repeal of section 4902, Revised Statutes, which provides for the filing of caveats in the Patent Office. A caveat is effective for one year, and a fee of ten dollars is charged therefor. No real protection is afforded the inventor. It merely insures notice being given to the caveator of the filing of an application for a patent by another for the same invention during the life of the caveat. It is known that many inventors are led to believe that a caveat offers some protection against infringement, which it does not.

The filing of an application for patent and payment of first fee of fifteen dollars insures an inventor not only all the benefits which he receives by the filing of a caveat, but much more, inasmuch as on the filing of an application for a patent he is placed in interference with any other patent not granted more than two years prior thereto and with any other application for patent which may be on file in the Office or which may thereafter be filed.

The Court of Patent Appeals.

The efforts of the American Bar Association to establish a court of patent appeals meets my heartiest approval. Legislation to accomplish this end should, in my opinion, become law at the earliest practical moment. A patent is granted by the Government which is effective throughout the United States and Territories. When this patent, however, is involved in a suit which is brought in any judicial district, the final decision, on appeal, is rendered by the circuit court of appeals of that jurisdiction. A decision involving the construction of a patent by the circuit court of appeals of one jurisdiction is effective only for that jurisdiction and has no legal effect in any other of the several circuits, except through comity. There have been in the past decisions rendered by several circuit courts of appeals which are directly opposed to each other. In view of the fact that a patent, when issued, is effective in all the States and Territories it is very clear that there should be one court of patent appeals whose decisions will control the status of that patent throughout the entire country. The importance of this is evident when it is considered that there are nine circuit courts of appeals and one Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, and each of which may and often does entertain in some particular a different view from the others with regard to the same patent.

NEW BUILDING.

I desire again to invite the attention of the Congress to the great need of a new and more commodious building to house the Patent Office. The present quarters provided are wholly inadequate. The volume of business of the Bureau increases each year, as will be clearly shown by the table embraced in the report giving the increases since the law of 1836 was passed.

The Patent Office has been more than self-supporting since its creation. The inventors pay for its maintenance, and not a dollar comes from the general tax revenues of the country. The surplus of receipts over expenditures each year is absolutely a net surplus, after deducting salaries and every item of expense that is charged to the Bureau.

The net surplus of all years covered into the Treasury on December 31, 1909, is $6,978,402.89. It is strongly urged that this sum or so much thereof as may be necessary will be used for providing a new building in which ample room will be afforded to properly and promptly transact the business of the inventors, for which they more than pay the total cost.

The sum represents the net earnings of the Patent Office, and it is due to the inventors of this country that the money should be utilized for the purposes of providing suitable facilities for expediting the work of the Patent Office. It is necessary that patents for new inventions should be issued with the utmost promptness after the application for patent has been filed, for such inventions form the basis of vast industries, which inure not merely to the profit of the inventor, but the benefit of the manufacturer, the laborer, the trader, the professional man, and the consumer, and to the commercial interests of the country in general.

Great Britain and Germany have each recognized the necessity for providing ample facilities for the work of their patent offices and have each recently erected new buildings for their patent offices which are in every way more commodious and better adapted to the business of a patent office than the building which now houses the United States Patent Office, although the patent business of either of those countries is but a small fraction compared with that transacted in the United States Patent Office.

If I may be permitted, I would suggest the passage at this session of the bill introduced by Senator Daniel on April 15, 1909, (S. 1629.) The structure and location meet my full approval.

Respectfully submitted.

EDWARD B. MOORE,
